PRESENTED BY:

Chris Millett, MM, MT-BC

Chris Millett, MM, MT-BC, is an Assistant Professor of Music Therapy at the University of Louisville. As a music therapy clinician and educator, Chris identifies from a Community Music Therapy (CoMT) - eclectic theoretical orientation. After nearly a decade, his clinical experience includes a wide range of populations including adolescents in group residential care, pediatric and adult medical populations, addiction recovery, senior living and memory care, exceptional education communities, neurodivergent populations, and more. As clinical and administrative coordinator of a non-profit community music therapy clinic, Chris also has experience in securing grant and philanthropy funding to serve marginalized communities.

Chris has a wide range of music therapy, music technology, and audio engineering experience and enjoys regularly teaching on those topics at regional, online-based, and national conferences. Of primary teaching interest to Chris is the use of electric and acoustic guitar in therapy, expanding music therapists' music tech literacy (e.g. effects pedals, audio engineering, synthesizers, etc.), and increasing clinical musicianship. Outside of direct clinical work, Chris hosts the podcast / media series Make More Music on podcast platforms and YouTube. He has collaborated with many top electric guitar effects companies including Chase Bliss, JHS Pedals, Wampler Pedals, Caulfield Cables, Yamaha, Jamstik, Pedaltrain, Truetone, Strymon Engineering, and more.

Finding Purposefulness in Aging: Using Musical Strategies for Fulfillment

AGENDA

11:45 AM - 12:00 PM (EST):	Log In and Virtual Networking
12:00 PM - 1:00 PM (EST):	Presentation
1:00 PM (EST):	Closing/Evaluation

As our communities recover from the challenges brought on by the global pandemic, many older adults are rethinking the concepts of aging, well-being, and purposefulness. This one-hour training session will focus on how helping professionals can support seniors in finding meaning, fulfillment, and dignity in their later years. Chris Millett, MM, MT-BC, will provide evidence-based practices and innovative strategies for improving the health and well-being of aging clients by fostering a sense of purpose. You will leave equipped with tools to help your clients explore purposefulness in their lives, improving both emotional and physical outcomes.

BY THE END OF THIS SESSION, THE PARTICIPANT WILL BE ABLE TO:

1. Summarize the concept of purposefulness as it relates to the aging process.
2. Recognize the importance of connectedness and fulfillment in supporting emotional and physical health in older adults.
3. Identify strategies and resources to help seniors explore purpose through creative arts, social engagement, and meaningful activities.

Course Interaction and Technical Requirements: This live webinar is fully interactive. Attendees may ask and answer questions throughout the presentation and participate in instructor-led discussions. A computer or mobile device is required. Zoom account is not required.
